Making a big splash in Montevideo

The best place to start is with a pickleball club in Montevideo, the capital of Uruguay and the biggest city by far.

We will start by buying a piece of property and converting it into pickleball courts and a clubhouse with a pro shop and café.

Main components of the club

The Courts

There are only 3 courts in the country today and many people haven't played the sport yet, which mostly has to do with no court availability and low awareness. We plan to build 4 courts in one location to get started.

Clubhouse, Café and Pro Shop

A clubhouse with a café and pro shop are a big part of this vision as well. Uruguayan culture is very laid back and an afternoon coffee and snack is essentially a requirement. Having a place for people to gather, meet people and enjoy refreshments before or after playing will be important to growing a community.

Programming

Clinics, private lessons, leagues, ladders and tournaments are all programming ideas that will be essential in teaching people how to play, improving the quality of play and growing a pickleball movement in this new market.

Potential Revenue Streams

Membership Revenue

Monthly and annual membership options for those who want to play more often.

Sponsorships

Many pickleball brands will be interested in getting involved with bringing the sport to a new market. LOIs signed with major paddle brands; sponsorships already in motion.

Paddle Rentals

Given it's a new sport to the region, paddle rentals will be popular at first.

Food and Beverage

Coffee and snack culture is big in Montevideo, so we expect people to hang out at the club and enjoy.

Clinics and Lessons

Clinics and lessons run by pros for those trying to learn or improve their game.

Corporate Events

Ability for local office groups to book out the space for corporate events.

Pay As You Play

Pay per hour you play, giving you flexibility to play when you'd like.

Vacation Packages

As we get more established, creating vacation packages for people to come from abroad to play pickleball in Uruguay.

Pro Shop

We will be the only supplier of pickleball gear in Uruguay, so expect lots of sales to come through us.
